

THE RIJSTTAFEL

During the colonial period of Indonesia the Dutch lived rather lavish life's, with plenty of servants to assist in making life as comfortable as possible. Eating was not any different and the choice given was either Colonial Dutch or Indonesian Cuisine. When ever they referred to Indonesian cooking then the basic phrase of Rijsttafel was used, meaning Rice Table. Contrary to European cuisine, which was mostly plated, Indonesian dishes were always served in the center of the table surrounding a large basket of steamed white rice.

VEGETABLES

Vegetables are never eaten on its own except as accompaniments to rice and they are never eaten raw. Vegetables are always eaten well cooked and limp or soft. As with all accompaniments to rice, vegetables are usually put in separate dishes and placed next to the cooked rice. People prefer to eat them warm, but they often do not since there is no set mealtime.

WELCOME TO BUMBU BALI

Dining out in Bali is not a social custom; therefore unless the visitor is invited into a Balinese home, or sample festive favorites during a ceremony, he or she is not likely to experience real Balinese food. We are proud to welcome you to our home where we offer all the culinary secrets our Island of Gods has to offer. The basic mix of spices used in all Balinese dishes is called BUMBU, after which we named our homes.

MAIN DISHES

In Bali rice is the main staple of each meal and contrary to Western cuisine, meat, fish or vegetable becomes a side dish. For you to get a taste of Bali, we recommended to order several main dishes, which we will serve in the center of the table, just as you would do in your home. We will offer you a selection of rice with your main meal.
